Welcome Message from the Vice-Chancellor, Krea University, India

Dear Participant,

Welcome to IFMR GSB, Krea University!

It's my great pleasure to welcome you to the fifth edition of the Research Symposium on Finance and Economics (RSFE) 2024 at Krea. I am delighted to see faculty members and doctoral and postdoctoral students from more than 20 countries presenting papers in this prestigious research symposium.

I hope the discussions will be fruitful and will inform better decision making by policy-makers and industry experts. I am confident that participating in this symposium will help researchers to publish papers in top journals in both Finance and Economics.

I wish you all the best for a successful symposium and look forward to further collaborations.

Professor Nirmala Rao

Vice-Chancellor
Krea University

Professor Sivakumar Srinivasan

Dean of Research
Krea University, India

Message from the Dean of Research, Krea University, India

Dear Participant,

Welcome to Krea. Thank you for participating in the symposium, and wishing you a great time learning and connecting with others in the field.

The timeliness and importance of this symposium cannot be overstated.

Technological revolutions such as Artificial intelligence, concerns emerging due to climate change, nations opting to trade in their currencies without requiring conversion, etc., impact nations' economic and financial status. While these are interesting research topics for academicians and researchers, these changes affect people's lives directly. Hence, researchers from across the globe must meet and deliberate such issues. The outcomes of such academic discussions are potential resources for policymakers responsible for everyone's well-being. I am confident this symposium will see substantial contributions towards that goal.

I hope you will agree that the Organizing Committee has planned the event very well and they deserve our appreciation

Wishing the symposium success.

Professor Sivakumar Srinivasan

Dean of Research
Krea University, India

Professor Lakshmi Kumar

Dean, IFMR GSB
Krea University, India

Message from the Dean, IFMR GSB, Krea University, India

Dear Participant,

The global economy has been able to contain inflation, largely through monetary policy, and many economies have avoided a recession due to continuous fiscal expansion in the last year. However, growth concerns will make central bankers sensitive to interest rates and hopefully the next year will see its downward trend. The wars in Ukraine and Israel have exasperated trade internationally.

In this backdrop RSFE 2024 will see research and policy papers in the area of Economics and Finance. I hope this symposium, like last year's, will contribute to fruitful discussions.

Welcome to RSFE 2024.

Professor Lakshmi Kumar

Dean
IFMR GSB, Krea University

Professor Praveen Bhagawan

Associate Professor of Finance | Area Chair (Accounting, Finance, and Quantitative Finance)
Research Symposium on Finance and Economics (RSFE) 2024 Chair
IFMR GSB, Krea University, India

Message from the Research Symposium Chair

Dear Participant,

Welcome to Krea University.

Warm welcome to the Research Symposium on Finance and Economics (RSFE) 2024, to be held virtually from 12 to 14 June, 2024. This research symposium provides an excellent opportunity for researchers worldwide to present their scholarly work on Finance and Economics and receive constructive feedback from other domain experts. Presenting a paper in this symposium will help the authors to publish it in top peer-reviewed journals. During the three-day symposium, nearly 120 papers from more than 20 countries will be presented, showcasing research outputs in finance and economics. I am eagerly looking forward to interacting with all of you virtually during the research symposium.

A special thanks to our keynote speakers, who agreed to deliver lectures at our research symposium. The speakers, who will deliver keynote lectures include Professor Suraj Srinivasan (Harvard Business School, US), Professor Jonathan A. Batten (RMIT University College of Business and Law, Australia), Professor Henri Servaes (London Business School, UK), Professor Andrey Malenko (Carroll School of Management, US), Professor Martina Linnenluecke (University of Technology Sydney, Australia), Professor Huu Nhan Duong (Monash University, Australia), Professor Rajkamal Iyer (Imperial College, UK), Professor Douglas Cumming (Florida Atlantic University, US), Professor Andrew Jackson (UNSW Sydney, Australia), Professor Shashwat Alok (Indian School of Business, Hyderabad, India), Professor R.C. Liao (Rutgers University Newark Business School, US), and Professor Sheetal Sekhri (University of Virginia, US). We are extremely thankful to our scientific committee members, who reviewed papers and provided timely feedback on the papers. Their invaluable support has helped us to shortlist high-quality research papers for presentation at the symposium. I am grateful to the session chairs, paper discussants, and research symposium committee members for their valuable contribution at every stage of the research symposium.

Finally, I would like to thank our Vice-Chancellor, Nirmala Rao, and Dean, Lakshmi Kumar, for their continuous support and encouragement, which have helped us successfully organize the research symposium this year. I hope you will find participating in this symposium a truly rewarding and an enriching experience.
